RESPONSE TO THE BOARD OF ROCK SOLID IMAGES PLC

The Board of THAL note with interest the response of the Rock Solid Images plc ("RSI") Board to THAL's partial offer made this morning and the factual inaccuracies contained therein.

First, with regard to THAL's customer base; the majority of THAL's business is done with E&P companies which are not competitors of RSI and may even be existing or potential customers of RSI hence the opportunity for exploring collaborative arrangements between THAL and RSI.

There have been various conversations over the last week between Duncan Soukup, Chairman of THAL and Messrs Cooper, CEO of RSI, and Reilly, Chairman of RSI. At no point was this raised as a cause for concern or even a question. The Board of THAL are disappointed that the Board of RSI have not taken the effort to consider the underlying opportunity but instead have made some incorrect assumptions.

Further, the Board of RSI stated that: "There have been no substantive discussions between the companies, and the Board of RSI is concerned that Thalassa has provided no evidence that they will bring any added economic or industrial assistance to the business in the next phase of the Company's development."

The Board of THAL would like to clarify RSI's statement above. There have been a number of substantive discussions between the two companies and whilst those discussions did not cover any details about how THAL could add economic or industrial assistance to RSI's business; those discussions did cover THAL's offer of additional funding either as an alternative to the related party loan with EuroTrans Skips AS and East Hill Hedge Fund LLC (about which shareholders have to date only been given scant details) or as part of the fund raising round that the RSI Board have indicated will occur post the AIM cancellation.

Duncan Soukup also asked Mr Reilly to give some assurance that RSI would not, shortly after the AIM cancellation, consolidate its shares thereby squeezing out small shareholders and denying RSI's smallest shareholders any opportunity to participate in the improving fortunes of RSI. Mr Reilly informed Mr Soukup that neither he nor the Board could give Mr Soukup such assurance.

Duncan Soukup, Chairman of THAL, commented: "I would like to stress that it is the THAL Board's sincere wish, as stated in our offer, to explore areas of mutual interest. I am disappointed, therefore, that the Board of RSI have been selective in their response to our offer and that they have also failed to address the most important issue on the table for small shareholders; the fact that if RSI is successful in delisting and the Board decide to do a consolidation of RSI's shares, small shareholders could end up disenfranchised with a worthless holding at a time when the outlook for RSI business is improving."
